

Schodack Town Board report for April 2018

The Schodack Town Board, in an effort to help inform residents of its activities, furnishes for them this report for the month of April 2018.

On April 21st, Supervisor Harris joined Town Board members Tracey Rex and Scott Swartz at the grand opening of the Castleton Diner and Hardware Store. The opening coincided with the kickoff of the Main Street Mile, a walking/jogging loop of Main Street designed and implemented by the Castleton-on-Hudson Main Street Association. These two attractions join a growing list of businesses and community projects that have been added to Main Street over the past few years. The Town Board is excited to see these revitalization projects and will continue to work on forging partnerships with the Village and related community groups in support of these efforts.

During their April 12th meeting, the Town Board approved the use of the pool at the Sidney Albert Albany Jewish Community Center for the Town's summer camp program. This year's summer camp will run from July 9th-August 3rd. Parents interested in enrolling their kids in the Summer Camp program can find the registration form on the Town's website and completed forms are due by the end of business hours on May 31st.

On April 17th, representatives from the Town joined those from Schodack Central School District in opening bids received for the construction of a sewer line extension. This is part of the Schodack Central School District's capital project currently underway. This would connect the High School, Middle School and bus garage to the Village sewer system. At the April 26th Board meeting, after a review of the bids, the contract for this project was awarded to William J. Keller and Sons Construction Corporation. Upon completion, funding from the State Education Department will be used to fully reimburse the Town for any costs it incurred related to the construction of this project.
